

Your energy future

Creating a better energy future for our members and society by accelerating a just global energy transition to net zero

The Energy Institute (EI) is the chartered professional membership body for people who work across the world of energy.

Responding to the climate emergency whilst meeting the energy needs of the world's growing population is one of the most pressing challenges facing humanity.

The EI and its members are working on it.

Your expertise

Access a wide range of resources to help you grow professionally

Wherever you are in the world, whatever discipline, field of energy or stage in your career, the EI helps you develop your expertise, boosting your performance in your current role and opening up new opportunities for advancing your career.

- » Build your skills and knowledge through the EI's training programmes, available online and in person, from energy management to health and safety and risk management
- » Stay informed with the latest news, features and comment from our weekly digital member magazine New Energy World
- » Our extensive eLibrary resources and good practice guidance at your fingertips, all developed by the industry's leading experts

Your recognition

Gain independent endorsement of your professionalism in energy

Joining the EI and holding relevant professional titles demonstrates your commitment to good practice in energy.

- » Signing up for one of our introductory grades online gives you immediate access to the range of member benefits
- » This will lead you on a path to becoming a professional member - an independent endorsement of your professionalism in energy, entitling you to use post-nominals
- » You can then apply for professional registration titles such as Chartered Engineer or Chartered Energy Manager, demonstrating the highest standard of competency within your specific field
- » Entering our high-profile annual EI Awards is another way of gaining public recognition and standing out from the crowd

Your network

Connect with fellow energy professionals to debate, learn and share knowledge

- » Connect with peers professionally and gain valuable advice and insight through our mentoring service EI Connect
- » Make the most of our busy programme of events and conferences online, locally and globally, in all walks of energy, including our vibrant young professionals networks
- » Opportunities to play your part in the EI, volunteer to speak at or organise events, contribute to expert committees, or write for our magazine
- » And, if life gets tough, our 24/7 EI Assist support service is there for you, with personal, legal or financial advice and counselling
